Private International Law Profile

Described as an "excellent advocate" (Chambers UK 2016), Rob specialises in commercial litigation. He appears regularly in the High Court, often against significantly more senior opponents. He is an experienced trial advocate and cross-examiner.

Rob has a varied commercial and contract law practice. His recent private international law cases include a claim to enforce a $5m Michigan judgment and a £800k cross-border restrictive covenants claim.

What-the-Directories-Say

- "He is a very academically gifted company counsel, who is as at home as a sole advocate against more senior adversaries as he is as part of a team." and "He is thoughtful and brilliant - a man to go to for advice on complex and technical legal disputes." (Chambers UK 2019)
- "Incredibly hardworking and very grounded." and "Ferociously intelligent; he punches above his weight." (Legal 500 2019)
- "He has expertise in employment, company and insolvency matters and receives praise for his thoughtful, measured approach and impressive advocacy style" (Chambers UK 2018)
- "He is an outstanding draftsman and offers clear, robust and commercial advice." (Chambers UK 2018)
- "He has a powerful intellect and his analysis is faultless." (Chambers UK 2018)
- "He has great intellect and is good on his feet." (Chambers UK 2017)
- "He is very clever, good with clients and highly approachable." (Chambers UK 2017)
- "An excellent advocate, who provides clear and pragmatic advice in conference." (Chambers UK 2016)
- "A man with a huge brain, but he's not unapproachable or difficult to deal with." (Chambers UK 2016)
